The Messenger

From the Pastor

Rev. Jon Zehnder

As we prepare for the celebration of our Savior's birth, let me share this devotional from Max Lucado.

"It's Christmas night, the house is quiet, even the crackle is gone from the fireplace. The last of the carolers appeared on the ten o'clock news; the last of the apple pie was eaten by my brother-in-law; and we've turned off the last of the Christmas music... it's Christmas night.

"The midnight hour has chimed and I should be asleep, but I'm awake; I'm kept awake by one stunning thought – the world was different this week. It was temporarily transformed. The magical dust of Christmas glittered the cheeks of humanity ever so briefly, reminding us of what is worth having and what we were intended to be. We forgot our compulsion with winning, wooing, and warring; we put away our ladders and ledgers; we hung up our stopwatches and weapons; we stepped off our race tracks and roller coasters and looked outward toward the star of Bethlehem.

"It's the season to be joyful because, more than at any other time, we think of Him; more than in any other season, His Name is on our lips. And the result? For a few precious hours, He is beheld – Jesus Christ the Lord! Those who pass the year without seeing Him, suddenly see Him; people who have been accustomed to using His Name in vain, pause to use it in praise; eyes, now free of the blinders of self, marvel at His majesty. All of a sudden He is everywhere – Immanuel – He is with us. God came near!

"It's Christmas night, in a few hours the cleanup will begin. Soon life will be normal again. But for the moment, the magic is still in the air. Maybe that's why I'm still awake, I want to savor the spirit just a bit more. I want to pray that those who beheld Him today will look for Him in August. And I can't help but linger on one fanciful thought – if He can do so much with such timid prayers lamely offered in December, how much more could He do if we thought of Him every day?"

Have a Blessed Christmas!!

Ways to Pressure-Proof Your Holidays

By Mary May Larmoyeux

Feeling the holiday pressure?" a greeting card asks, "Relax! It'll be gone before you know it." Have you ever felt like a hamster caught on a spinning wheel when it comes to celebrating the holidays? I sure have. When I asked some friends what they do to prevent stress around the holidays one told me, "The last three out of four years I ended up sick over Christmas. I honestly don't know if there is a way to reduce holiday stress when your life is already full and busy and then you add in all the holiday stuff.

Another said, "So much is expected of us, even when we have a full-time job. I would love to go see special Christmas musicals, drive to places that have pretty lights, but we rarely have time." Can you identify? What should be one of the most special times of the year is often packed with unrealistic demands that wreak havoc on relationships— between husbands and wives, parents and their grown children, singles and those they love.

Here are four tips to protect you, your marriage relationship, and your family from holiday pressure:

1. Pray. Feeling holiday stress, many years ago Kit enlisted God's help. She sensed Him saying, Trust me with your celebrations. Give me your hopes and dreams for this special time of year. I know your needs. Allow me to fill them. Another friend told me that she asks God for spiritual protection during the holidays. While she and her family center Thanksgiving and Christmas around their God-given blessings and the birth of Christ, many in her extended family do not. She realizes that family disagreements can easily crop up during the holidays. She also prays that she will respond in a godly way when loved ones don't understand her family's Christian faith. She asks, Lord, guard my mouth constantly.

"Pray without ceasing" 1 Thessalonians 5:17.

2. Plan. Jillian and her husband ease holiday stress by planning. They decide where they will spend the holidays as much in advance as possible. "By doing this," she says, "loved ones can process and get used to our plan and that protects against hurt/disappointed feelings." As a working mom, Linda says that she doesn't handle anything to do with Christmas until after Thanksgiving weekend. She avoids feeling overwhelmed by scheduling one major task at a time. (For example: First week after Thanksgiving, write Christmas letter and address Christmas cards.)

"Those who plan peace have joy" Proverbs 12:20b.

3. Determine realistic expectations and communicate them clearly. When Trena looked at her December to-do list, she felt a knot in her stomach. How could she get everything done? Then she heard a radio program about the holidays and realized that she was the cause of her own stress. "I lowered my expectations of myself and the festivities and focused more on the true meaning of Christmas than on the gifts that I gave."

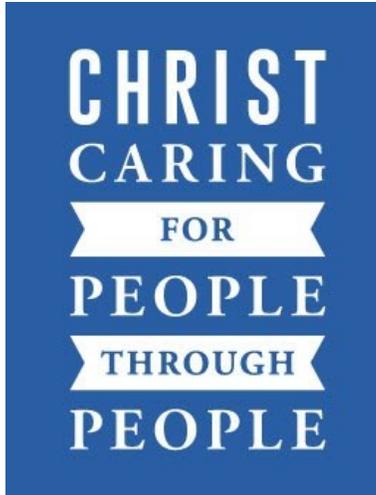

"May he give you the desire of your heart and make all your plans succeed" Psalm 20:4.

4. Don't try to do everything. There's something comforting about traditions, especially around Thanksgiving and Christmas. But can family traditions become a source of stress? I have only to look in the mirror at myself to answer that question: Yes! Let's face it: People are different. Recognizing this, and relaxing with the differences, can ease holiday pressure—both inside and outside the home. Sometimes visions of homemade Christmas decorations, gingerbread houses, helping the needy, cutting a fresh tree, etc., dance through my head—so our family can have the "perfect Christmas." But there's a problem: People in the same family often value traditions differently. What's comforting for one may actually be stressful or totally meaningless for another. Deb suggests talking with your spouse and each child about what makes the holiday special for them. Keep the most meaningful traditions and discard the rest.

"Let us know among ourselves what is good" Job 34:4b.

Gifted To Care

Spiritual gifts are gifts to give away. God gives them to us, and we use them to serve others. How are you using your gifts right now? Are you looking for a new way to use them? If your spiritual gifts include one or more of the following—faith, mercy, teaching the faith, encouragement, or knowing—consider Stephen Ministry, our congregation's one-to-one caregiving ministry. This may be just what you've been looking for! A new training class will be offered in January 2019. If you would like more information about Stephen Ministry, please contact Stephen Leader: Janet Marderness, 645-8999.

“They look like angels!” we often hear people say about children in the Christmas Eve pageant! By definition, an angel is a messenger, and often, yes, our children are the best messengers of Jesus' love! Another familiar quote is “A little child shall lead them.” What do we want their message to be ... to whom do we want them to lead others? Here at Saint Michael our mission to educate children and touch families' lives with the awesome love of Jesus Christ! Here they learn a powerful, life-giving message and the encouragement to share it with all with whom they come into contact. And the Christmas season may be the most obvious time for children - and all of us - to share the joy that came through the Baby Jesus born in Bethlehem – God's greatest gift to the whole world! A BLESSED CHRISTMAS TO YOU AND YOUR FAMILY!

Check out the SMLS reviews on our Facebook page where Saint Michael families share their stories about the impact Saint Michael Lutheran School has had on their family. Give me a call if you want to see our school first-hand. We are also beginning enrollment for the 2019-2020 school year.

Christmas is really all about celebrating Jesus' birthday. Each week the story unfolds: Mary, Joseph, the shepherds, and angels all celebrating the birthday of Jesus' God's son as He came to save the world.

Elementary Sunday School

God's compassion for sin-stained people led to the greatest act of love the world has ever seen: God sent His only Son as a Savior. This month we'll undercover the aspects of the Christmas story and reflect that compassion when we care about others, reflecting how much God loves them.
